

Reinforcing Polyester Fabric

For Professional Use Only

DESCRIPTION

- 100% knitted polyester reinforcing fabric.
- Combination of high-strength properties and good elongation for exceptional thermal stress force accommodations.
- One of the strongest materials for reinforcement in cold-process roofing.

RECOMMENDED USES

Fortiknit 230 is used in the reinforcement of cold-process roofing. Additionally, it is used as a flashing reinforcement with mastics and elastomeric. Fortiknit 230 is excellent for reinforcing seams and details in many roofing applications and its narrow width is excellent for seam applications in metal roof restorations and single-ply restoration. Fortiknit 230 is a medium soft product that will conform to smooth surfaces. To ensure good coating, embedment, and air pocket removal, light brooming may be necessary.
